

NOTRE DAME TO HONOR DR. QUINLAN

Lactare Medal for Good Works Conferred on Well Known New York Physician.

GIVE DECORATION ANNUALLY

Recipient This Year Is Professor in New York Polyclinic and President of Catholic Society of New York.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Saturday.—Dr. Francis J. Quinlan, president of the Catholic Society in New York city, has been selected as the recipient of the Lactare Medal, which is given each year by the University of Notre Dame to a Catholic distinguished in good works. The announcement will be made to-morrow in the Church of the Sacred Heart at Notre Dame.

Dr. Quinlan is professor of laryngology in the New York Polyclinic, a clinical school for graduates of medicine and surgery. He is also president of the New York County Medical Association. He was graduated from St. Francis Xavier College in 1871. He not only gives his services freely to the poor, but cuts upon them at their homes.

St. Francis Xavier College has conferred on him the degrees of A. M. and LL. D. He is the inventor of many surgical instruments and a recognized writer on medical subjects. He stands high in the estimation of Catholic hierarchy and laity. He has taken an active part in public life and is regarded as an exponent of civic duty. Dr. Quinlan, president of Notre Dame University, will give the medal to Dr. Quinlan some time soon in New York.

Among those who have been honored with the medal are Bourke Conran, Augustin Daly, Secretary of the New York State, Joseph N. Sadler, General Rosecrans and Dr. Murphy, of Chicago.

DR. QUINLAN WAS SURPRISED

Congratulation from Archbishop Farley Accompanied Notice of High Honor.

Dr. Francis J. Quinlan, at his home, No. 33 West Thirty-eighth street, said last night that the honor conferred on him by the University of Notre Dame was the highest which could be bestowed upon a Catholic in this country. With the official notification from the president of the faculty came a card of congratulation from Archbishop Farley, who had been notified by the faculty of the selection.

Dr. Quinlan says the honor was entirely unexpected. He considers that his life, which has been given to the cause of humanity and aid to the suffering, has not been spent in vain, and up to the time he received the notification he had not hoped for this added distinction.

ROME PREPARING FOR HUGE FETE

Great Charity Event Is Planned in Which Many Society People Will Take Part.

IS THE TOPIC OF THE MOMENT

An Immense Sum Is Expected To Be Realized for the Italian Emigrant Society.

[From the European Edition of the Herald.]
Rome.—The bright sunshine continues, and the violets and almonds are beginning to flower. The Roman spring is on us, after a winter which itself was like spring elsewhere.

The topic of the moment is the huge Kermesse that is to take place on Easter Sunday in the Villa Borghese. Queen Margherita is at the head of it, taking the keenest interest in the affair and superintending personally all the details. Under her are nearly all the prominent women in Rome, each of whom is to hold a stall. There was a meeting yesterday at Contessa della Somaglia's house, and a good many details were discussed and arranged.

There will be an immense stall, divided into several compartments, each of which will represent a province of Italy, presided over by a lady from that part of the country. The kiosks representing foreign countries will be scattered about the grounds. Duchessa di Persepolis, who was to represent Spain, has retired owing to her little girl having contracted measles, but her place has been taken by Marchesa Filippo Bourbon del Monte. All the ladies are very busy collecting articles from various countries for their kiosks, and every facility has been given by the government for the reduction of duty on the parcels that arrive. An immense sum is expected to be netted for the Italian Emigrant Society.

Charity Entertainments.

This is now the season of charity entertainments, and on all sides one hears of new ones being organized. In a few weeks the theatricals got up by Contessa Taverna will take place. She has secured such well known amateurs as the Principessa di Paterno, Donna Clarice Frascati, Contessa Scheibler, Principessa Giovannelli, Baronessa Giulia Colletti, Mlle. Marie de Benomar, Principessa d'Antoni, Miss Lucia Slade, Marchesa Dora di Rudini, Signor Capasso, Principe di Lodi, Conte Luca Bracci, Marchese Francesco Spinola, Principe Altieri, Don Alfonso del Drago, Principe Potenziani, Marchesa Burzio, La Penne, Marchesa Cappelli, Marchese Giorgio Guglielmi and Don Guglielmo Teodoli. With a cast such as this, the theatricals are sure to be a great success. Among the plays acted will be the "Trionfo d'Amore," by Giacosa.

Another promising entertainment which will arouse a good deal of interest is the production at the Teatro Valle of an opera, entitled "Muguet," composed by Contessa Antonio Pietromarchi. This is not the young composer's first work, as will be remembered that he was responsible for the musical part of the Roman skit called "Il Profilo d'Agrippina," which was performed last year in Principe Giovanni Torlonia's private theatre. "Muguet" is much on the same lines, and Marchesa Leo di Rudini has consented to act as impresario.

At the Tea Rooms.

The "Carita e Lavarò" tea rooms in the Corso continue prosperously their career, and must say there is no pleasanter place in Rome after a cold drive or an afternoon's shopping, where one may refresh one's self with a warm cup of tea or chocolate. The first room is a regular old curiosity shop, where often very nice things may be picked up remarkably cheap. On penetrating further one comes to three or four bright little rooms with parquet floors and light colored walls. These are always full of people having tea at various little tables, and the hot-buttered toast and buns take one back to Englands. Among the well known people having tea there lately have been—Duchessa Sforza Cesarini, Contessa Bice Ravascheri, Principessa Lancelotti, with her daughters

Donna Maria and Donna Ruffina Lancelotti, Contessa Otavia di San Severino, Duchessa Visconti di Modona, Conte Groppallo, Marchese Cavriani, Signor Martin Franklin.

Mrs. Mackay, sister of Contessa Telfer and mother of Principessa Galatro Colonna, has arrived at the Hotel Beau Site. Principessa di Galatro Colonna has also arrived, and, as usual, is at the Hotel Regina.

At the Grand Hotel.
Among the people dining at the Grand Hotel on Thursday evening at different tables were Principe Pio di Savoia, Mrs. and Miss Sydney Bristowe, Contessa della Sala, Mrs. Kenys, Prince Honenlohe, Prince de Lyonnar and her daughter, Mr. and Miss Pannoeffort, Baron Ried, Conte Channre, M. Basile Roncavichnikoff, Conte and Contessa da Cortubia, Conte and Contessa Sarriestori, Conte and Contessa Leonardi, Mrs. Almerio Paget, Conte di San Martino, Mrs. and Miss Howell, Don Marco and Donna Isabella Borghese, Conte and Contessa Canevaro.

The Excelsior Hotel restaurant is also very full. In fact, popular opinion is exactly divided on the merits of the two rival restaurants. Among the people dining at the Excelsior the other night were Prince and Princess de Broglie, Lord Lascelles, Marquise de Talleyrand-Perigord, Conte Grep, Baron and Baronesse Meyer de Schaumsee, Mr. and Mrs. Singer, Marchese Guerrieri Gonzaga, Marchese Luigi Serra di Cassano, Conte Ancillotti, Contesse

Jean de Berteux and Marchese Floridi Serbelloni.

Principe and Principessa Potenziani, with their little daughter, were received yesterday morning in private audience by the Pope.

'DOG YOURSELF,' SAYS COLER.

Borough President Replies to the District Attorney and Calls Him a Cur and a Menace to City.

Assuming that he was referred to by District Attorney Jerome in a speech at the Delta Upsilon fraternity dinner Friday night, when he spoke of yellow dogs and a man who had since become Borough President and who was concerned in a stock transaction, Bird S. Coler issued a statement yesterday in which he said:

"It is up to Jerome to produce facts and figures. I would very much like to answer any specific statement he might make. I consider it unhandwork for him to try to divert attention from his own negligence in the insurance scandal. Any man who will make a statement of that kind and not back it up is a yellow dog. When a yellow dog gets filled up on whiskey and cigarettes he is likely to become a mad cur and is a menace to the city."
